

A GREEK INTERPRETIVE LEXICON

ἀλλά

pp. 44-45, pp. 38-39

CONJUNCTION

1. but, yet, (after a negative or $\mu\epsilon\nu$, translated:) “[not]...but”, rather; -/+ [1a]
2. but, yet, nevertheless, rather, at least, ; Adv or A [2, 4]

Wallace – independent clauses with coordinating conjunction, p. 657; common coordinating conjunctions, p. 669; logical contrastive (adversative) and correlative (paired) conjunctions, pp. 671-672; logical emphatic conjunctions, p. 673.

ἄν

pp. 56-57, pp. 48-49

PARTICLE

1. then (as an apodosis, or second part of conditional clause); C[?] E [I. a β , b] [1b, 2]

Wallace – dependent (subordinate) clauses with conditional subjunctive, p. 469-470; the potential optative mood, pp. 483-484; dependent, indefinite relative clauses, p. 660; the structure of conditions, p. 689; second class (contrary to fact) conditions, pp. 694-696; fourth class (less probable future) conditions, pp. 699-701.

ἀνὰ μέσον

[cf. ἀνά] p. 57, p. 49

PREPOSITION

1. among, between, in the middle, in the midst of; L [1]

Wallace – basic distributive use with genitive, p. 364.

ἀνθ' ὧν

▲ [cf. ἀντί] p. 88, pp. 73-74

PREPOSITION WITH GENITIVE, USED AS A CONJUNCTION

1. because (of), for the purpose of; G [4] [3]
2. therefore, wherefore, so then; (rare: Lk. 12:3) ∵ [5] [3]

ἀντί

pp. 87-88, pp. 73-74

PREPOSITION WITH GENITIVE

1. instead of, in place of, for; NLR [1, 2]
2. because (of), for the purpose of, for; (rare: Eph. 5:31; Heb. 12:2) G [4] [3]

(Also see entry ἀνθ' ὧν, above)

Wallace – basic uses and significant passages, pp. 365-68; comparison with $\dot{\imath}\pi\acute{e}\rho$, the issue of atonement, and other significant passages, pp. 383-89.

ἀντικρυς

▲ p. 89, p. 74

ADVERB

1. opposite; L

ἀντιπέρα

▲ p. 90, p. 75

ADVERB

1. opposite; L

ἀπό

pp. 105-107, pp. 86-88

PREPOSITION WITH GENITIVE

1. from, away from; NLR [1, 3] [I., IV.]
2. from, out from, away from; L [2a, 4] [II. 1, III.]
3. from, since; T [2b, c] [II. 2, 3]
4. because of, as a result of, for; G [5a, c] [V. 1, 3]
5. with the help of, with; (rare; Rev. 18:15) W Ed [5b] [V. 2]

Wallace - ablative genitive of separation pp. 107-109, and of source (origin) p. 109; ἀπό and the genitive of time, p. 123; ἀπό with pronouns, p. 343 (see also entry ἀφ' οὐ, below); spatial diagram, p. 358; basic uses and significant passages, p. 368.

ἀπα

▲ pp. 127, pp. 103-104

CONJUNCTION

1. then, so, consequently, as a result, you see, therefore; ∴ [1 a, b, 2b] [1, 2, 4]
2. then, as a result, (as an apodosis, or second part of conditional clause); C? E [2a] [3]

Wallace - independent clauses introduced by a coordinating, logical inferential conjunctions p. 658, 673.

ἀφ' οὐ

p. 105 [cf. ἀπό 2b, γ] and p. 727 [cf. ός 1k, ζ], p. 87 [cf. ἀπό II. 2c] and p. 585 [cf. ός 11f]

PREPOSITION WITH GENITIVE

1. when once, since, until (the time when); T [see above for sections]

Wallace - adverbial/conjunctive use of the relative pronoun with a preposition, p. 342-343.